The growing internationalisation of higher education, especially professional courses and institution, increasing international cooperation and the emergence of new, transnational education providers are posing a challenge to higher education systems of the country. The new knowledge-based society demands managers who are flexible and versatile. They need to learn continuously and upgrade their skills as the technology advances. This has made education a more vibrant and rewarding experience. BVIMSR has been contributing to this educational revolution in its own way since 1984. The institute strives to create all round leaders in management and entrepreneurship by helping its students acquire the necessary skills.

Consonant with our mission of encouraging sustained professional enrichment in an academic environment the programme is delivered by providing professional education in a flexible academic package. Adding synergy to these programmes are the specially prepared study materials, lectures, expert faculty & case studies prepared by BVIMSR faculties.

Today education is not a static regimented process confined to the formative years of childhood or adolescence, but it is a dynamic and continuous on-going process that extends through out the professional careers. In this ever-changing worldwide phenomenon, acquiring management education offers multiple benefits of flexibility, professional recognition and academic enhancement to the student.

BVIMSR is located in a lush green 5 acre campus. The Institute boasts of world -class infrastructure consisting of a fully networked Wi-Fi campus and well-equipped classrooms.

Dear Friends'

'Welcome to Quality Management Education Experience at Bharati Vidyapeeth's Institute of Management Studies & Research.'

Take a minute; take a step back and look at the world around you. Compare it with your life as a child-with your earliest memories; the gadgets and appliances that you had at home; the way you met your free time; the way you met and socialized with your friends and relatives; the way you played games; the way you took photos or listened to music or even read a book. I don't need to point out the obvious-the way we live has changed in so many ways. What is more important is that while these changes have been happening at the micro level, these are but consequences of a macro-level change-of a change that has taken place due to the advances in science, technology, change in geo-political equations, trade cycles and economic upheavals. Having said this, let me point out another obvious fact-that the change will continue and we will look back twenty years from now and be awed that life in 2040 certainly bears no resemblance to life in 2018. So where does that leave you?

It brings to the fore the need to adapt, be flexible, to respond, react and mutate to changes in surroundings-the very basic principle of evolution. The only way to do that is to keep the learning a constant. Your experiences (both personal and professional), your education, the skill sets that you have acquired are all part and parcel of your learning and BVIMSR will present to you yet another avenue for keeping your self up to speed. Let's face it- redundancy is really not an option.

Bharati Vidyapeeth has been a pioneer in the field of management education in India. Not only have we reacted to changes in the management education landscape but also predicted some of them and led the way in delivering program that is targeted at the upwardly mobile, ambitious, hard working professional. The curricular aspect of the program has been crafted by an academic council comprising some of the world's most renowned gurus in the field of Management. The experiential component of our offering is provided by several leading industrialists and our interface with the corporate community is exceptional. With participants from all over the country, each class of 60 odd students bring such an eclectic mix of work experience, cultural background, value systems and perspectives that the learning never ceases even outside the classroom.

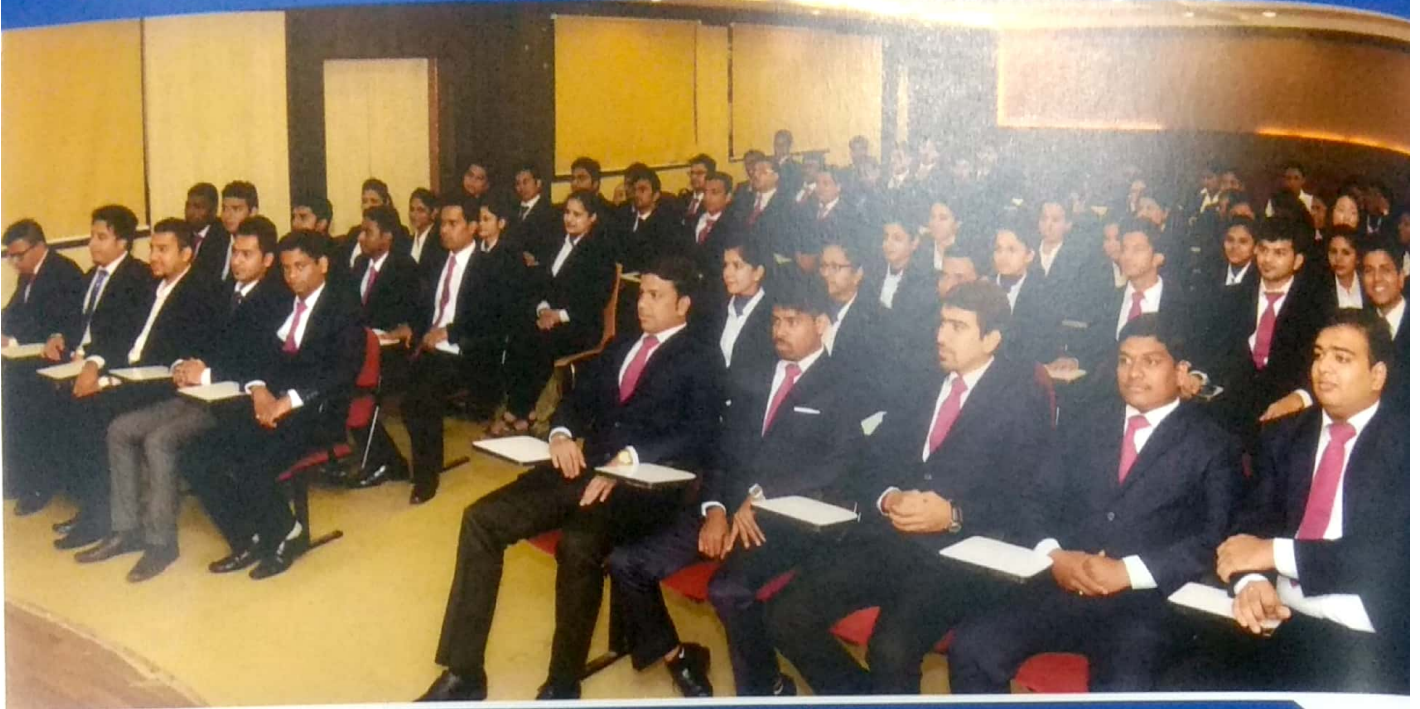

The ambience that we have strived to create in our 5 acres campus at Navi Mumbai, with its pristine surroundings and liberal faculty student interactions is aimed at maximizing the learning. All this is however, not our only focus. We are pain fully aware that the capitalistic underpinnings of the global economy has had a serious impact on the ethical and moral beliefs of the society. Perhaps that is the difference between profit-making and profiteering.

Overall, your stay at BVIMSR will provide you with skill sets, education and progress as well as provide a moral and value-based learning experience that will hold you in good stead in the years to come-personally and professionally. How you choose to build on this and leap in to the higher orbit of professional and personal accomplishment is totally up to you.

As I said, earlier, redundancy is not an option. We take our work seriously and our goal is to create a new breed of managers who will be go-getters, trend setters and high-achievers but beyond all this, responsible leaders and conscious corporate citizens who will make a difference. If this resonates with you, then you need look no further- We are different and thus we make a difference-join forces with us, experience the difference and be the change you want to see in this world!

Problem solving methods are also used extensively besides lectures / simulation exercises, role plays, quiz etc.

The project work constitutes a major component in most of the professional programmes.
